

The opinions and or views expressed on St. Joseph's Healthcare System's ("SJHS") social media platforms, including, but not limited to, our blogs, Facebook, Twitter and YouTube pages, represent the thoughts of individual bloggers and online communities, and not those necessarily of SJHS or any of its corporate affiliates or any of their respective officers, employees, research staff, medical staff or members of their respective boards of trustees. The opinions and views expressed on these pages do not in any way reflect the views of the site they are posted on, other sites affiliated with the site, the staff involved with maintaining the site or any members of the site.

We encourage your comments on SJHS's various social media outlets, and hope you will join the discussions. We can't respond to every comment, particularly those that deal with individual medical cases and issues. We review posted comments. We also expect a high level of civility; with a focus on mutual respect. Profanity or abusive language is out-of-bounds. You must be at least 18 years old to post any content on any social media site.

Neither information posted on one of our sites nor the lack of a response by us, is intended to be medical, legal, financial, insurance or any other kind of advice and should not be considered such advice, nor is it intended to replace consultation with a qualified physician, lawyer, financial advisor, insurance consultant or other counselor or advisor. To obtain this kind of advice, you must consult with your own physician, lawyer, financial advisor, insurance consultant or other counselor or advisor, and can not rely upon our social media sites or other online forums for these kinds of advice.

All links to other web sites found linked from SJHS's social media sites are provided as a service to readers, but such linkage does not constitute endorsement of those sites by SJHS, and as such we are not responsible for the content of external Web sites.
